Investors From Over 20 Countries Expected to Attend Online Uranium Conference That Includes Industry Experts from Boswell Capital, Edison Investment Research, Fuel Cycle Week, Oreninc, UX Consulting

TORONTO, 03/20/13 - AGORACOM, a leading online financial community focusing on the small-cap and mid-cap markets, is pleased to announce the start of the www.OnlineUraniumConference.com tomorrow, March 21-22. Open and accessible to investors from around the world, this free online conference will feature presentations from growth companies and industry experts, including online Q&A sessions.

LARGEST CONFERENCE, GROUND BREAKING FORMAT

The online format of the Uranium Conference provides investors from outside traditional "conference cities" with an opportunity to fully participate in the process by watching presentations and interacting with conference participants - all from the comfort of their computers.

Moreover, investors will be happy to know that, unlike other conferences, registration is not mandatory. Investors are able to watch all presentations and access all information by simply browsing the conference. Registration is only required for guests that want to participate in Q&A sessions.

George Tsiolis, Founder of AGORACOM, stated "Since our initial announcement, we have already had visitors to the conference site from more than 20 countries. We expect this to grow even further when the conference starts tomorrow, as Uranium investors realize this is the largest and most comprehensive conference of its kind."

STRONG EMPHASIS ON INDUSTRY EXPERTS

In addition to presentations from emerging Uranium companies, the Online Uranium Conference will provide investors with powerful information pertaining to the Uranium industry. Topics include:

- Global Nuclear Power Outlook and Uranium Demand Forecast
- Financing Landscape For Uranium Companies
- Global Uranium Exploration and Mining Districts
- Global Uranium Markets: Long-Term Contracts Vs. Spot Price
- US-Russian Highly Enriched Uranium Agreement ("HEU")

Jim Paterson, CEO of Kivalliq Energy said, "The truly unique aspect of the AGORACOM Online Uranium Conference is the quality of our uranium industry experts. Presentations will feature well-constructed opinions, and highly educational information, from people who actually play a meaningful role in the uranium sector and nuclear industry. The online format of this conference gives everyone access to these experienced professionals who work day to day in the industry."
