HENDERSON, Feb 13, 2014 - Suburban Minerals Corp. (OTC Pink: SUBB) announced today the publishing of a new website, a Facebook page and a Twitter page as well.

According to the company, the new website, which can be viewed at www.suburban-minerals.com, is now available and will be updated with information on its diamond property and will have important links on filings as well as partners and information on its operations overseas. The information on the website is not entirely complete as of today but will be completed upon the closing of the current diamond concession acquisition.

"Since we are divesting of our coal property in Chile and are concluding the acquisition of an important diamond concession, we wanted a fresh new start with our website, our new logo, and soon many items that will provide our shareholders, and potential shareholders with our vision, objectives, and milestones," said Tim Sperling, President & CEO of Suburban Minerals Corp. "It is important to have a website that consolidates information for both shareholders and potential shareholders at this stage of our development."
