

LAS VEGAS, NV--(Marketwired - Mar 6, 2017) - USCorp (OTC PINK: USCS) announced today that the company is transitioning from an exploration stage company to a diversified holding company.

"USCorp will consider several different industries and efficiencies, all in an effort to become horizontally and vertically integrated," said Director/Chairman Dr. James Jensen. The company will initially focus on land developments in Yuma, Arizona with emphasis on RV storage facilities for the 90,000 winter visitors who arrive each year. USCorp is currently negotiating a joint venture agreement with the owners of a 14-acre parcel and plans to start permitting the 450-unit project by June 2017.

"In terms of individually owned, condominium type, indoor recreational vehicle and boat storage units," said Director/Interim Secretary-Treasurer Patrick Lawler. "Only certain cities in Arizona are underdeveloped for long term RV storage and Yuma is one of them. It's also important to note that not a lot of capital up front is required to build this project, respectively, so it's a win-win all around."

Under previous executive management, USCorp had started many projects, but none of which ever came to fruition. Under the direction of Chairman Dr. James Jensen, the company is expecting to bring in new management, only the best people in the industry, to be a part of USCorp's bright future.

"The company is now poised and expects to stabilize within the next 90 days," added Director/Interim Secretary-Treasurer Patrick Lawler. "Our goal is to get at least three projects up and running by this time next year."
