About the Thunder Bay Silver Camp

Honey Badger's Thunder Bay Silver Camp covers more than 30,000 hectares and includes eleven past-producing high-grade mines with historical production of more than 1.67M oz silver<sup>1</sup>. The project, located 25 to 70 kilometres southwest of Thunder Bay, Ontario, is easily accessible and close to infrastructure. Honey Badger is the early mover in consolidating key ground in this historic silver camp that has strong potential for polymetallic mineralization.

Since initiating its exploration program in March 2018, Honey Badger has made several discoveries:

- Geophysics and drilling uncovered >2 km "Five-element" vein (polymetallic veins that can contain, amongst others, silver, cobalt, copper, nickel, lead and zinc) at the Beaver Mine.
- Airborne geophysics identified numerous targets on the project's land package that exhibit the same response as the historic Beaver Mine "Five-element" vein.

- Grab samples taken on the property returned silver values of up to 953 g/t and zinc values of up to 14.94%. The reader is cautioned that grab samples are selective by nature and they may not represent the true mineralization potential.

Honey Badger's recently completed a 1,500 m drill program that tested structural traps where the likelihood of finding polymetallic silver mineralization is the highest. Assay results are pending.
