PHOENIX, May 24, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- ZincX Resources Corp. (TSX-V:ZNX) (OTC Gray:CZVMF) (the "Company") announced President and CEO Peeyush Varshney's interview on Uptick Newswire's "Stock Day" Podcast.

ZincX Resources, formerly known as Canada Zinc Metals Corp, is a Canadian zinc exploration company based in British Columbia. All of the company's assets are located in this region. Over the years, the company has been able to put together a very significant zinc lead silver deposit, one of the largest undeveloped zinc deposits in the world. The deposit contains over 30 million tons of 10% zinc and lead. In addition to this, the company also possesses a massive, district scale exploration package. This has been a major factor in attracting the interest of strategic shareholders.

The company is currently conducting a Preliminary Economic Assessment (PEA) on the deposit, with results expected to be released before the end of May. This is the first step towards getting the project fully permitted and prepared for the potential construction of a mine. There are very few zinc companies out there, according to Varshney, and the size and grade of their deposit really makes it stand out. "We're in British Columbia, a very good mining environment, and majors are also looking for a deposit that is close to additional significant exploration packages, and that's exactly what we have," says Varshney. These factors- scale, grade, jurisdiction, and district scale exploration potential- are the primary factors that draw the interest of major mining groups.

Varshney is confident in the direction that the company is headed. "There's a real imbalance in the supply and demand side, hence the increase in the price of zinc over the past two years. We have a project here at ZincX Resources that is attracting the interest of major mining groups; and I do think that makes it a great investment opportunity."

With a market cap of $39 million and shares priced at 23 cents, "Stock Day" host Everett Jolly believes that the company is undervalued.
