Vancouver, British Columbia (FSCwire) - Progressive Planet Solutions Inc. (PLAN-TSX:V) ("Progressive Planet" or the "Company") is pleased to announce that it has procured facilities to screen and bag zeolite sourced from its Z-1 Quarry for sale into the Canadian marketplace. In addition, Progressive Planet is also pleased to announce it will open an Advanced Materials Centre (AMC) product development lab at the same site.

The Advanced Materials Centre will be equipped with specialty equipment used to create various blends of concrete with zeolite and other additives. Much of the equipment has already been procured including equipment which produces nano-sized micro particles of zeolite.

"We are very pleased with the location, the buildings and office structure," states Stephen Harpur, CEO of Progressive Planet. "All the necessary power is in place and additional processing equipment is being procured and will be installed in the coming weeks. Delivery of the equipment is expected to begin in the next few weeks."

The plant consists of two large tension fabric structures that have been erected near an adjacent building which will house the Advanced Materials Centre. The structures were erected in August and power installation was completed in September. The Advanced Materials Centre will be fully equipped by the end of October 2018.

Progressive Planet has signed a multi-year lease with Okanagan Aggregates Ltd. "Our relationship with Okanagan Aggregates continues to grow. The relationship started with Okanagan Aggregates doing contract extraction and size reduction of zeolite at the Z-1 Quarry last year. This summer, Okanagan Aggregates invested in our last private placement and is now a supportive shareholder," stated Stephen Harpur.

Progressive Planet is a Canadian based mineral exploration company with a flagship zeolite mine in British Columbia, and also earn a 20% interest in a lithium project in Manitoba and a graphite property in Buckingham, Quebec.
