

Angold Resources Ltd. Plans Drilling at Iron Butte

02.03.2021 | CNW

VANCOUVER, March 2, 2021 - Angold Resources Ltd. (TSXV: AAU) (FRA: 13L1) ("Angold" or the "Company") is pleased to announce that it has begun permitting for drilling a total of 10,000 metres at its Iron Butte project in the Battle Mountain Trend of Nevada, USA. The first phase of drilling will be 2,850 m.

Angold's CEO, Mr. Adrian Rothwell, stated: "A new structural interpretation of the Iron Butte deposit has identified previously untested intersection zones that have formed the main conduits of fluid flow at Iron Butte. Put simply, we believe much historic drilling has missed the core of this deposit, despite demonstrating mineralized structures up to ~30 m thick. Iron Butte exhibits evidence of a large system with excellent potential to increase the size of the deposit."

Please refer to the Company's news release dated January 27, 2021 for more information on new drill targets at Iron Butte and highlighted historic results.

DRILL PROGRAM

The proposed drill plan consists of a total of 42 holes from 33 drill pads to depths of 150-300 m in three phases, with an average depth of ~250 m per hole. All drilling will consist of core and will test the principal structures on the project that have been mapped during fieldwork undertaken by the Company from October 2020 to present. The core of this work calculated the trend and plunge of the intersection lines formed by the main gold-bearing silicified ribs.

In addition to validating historic drill data, the primary objectives of the proposed program are to:

1. Expand the resource by stepping out along strike and at depth.
2. Test structural intersections identified by the Company.
3. Gather data for an enhanced geologic, geochemical, and alteration model for the deposit.
