American Eagle Gold Webinar

American Eagle is a Nevada-focused exploration company whose flagship asset is the Golden Trend Project, immediately adjacent to Nevada Gold Mine's (Barrick and Newmont JV) Goldrush deposit within the Cortez Trend. American Eagle is exploring for large Carlin-style type deposits within the same geologic environment as the adjacent Goldrush and Cortez Mines.

Anthony Moreau, CEO of American Eagle, stated the following: "Golden Trend is underexplored given its prime location, attached to Newmont and Barrick's operations. American Eagle has a clear plan in place to move the project quickly forward towards a drill program."

American Eagle is part of the Ore Group of companies and is led by a strong technical and corporate team who collectively own 44% of American Eagle's shares. The Company has a tight share structure and enough cash to fund the first phase of its exploration program.

About American Eagle Gold Corp.:

American Eagle Gold is focused on exploring its flagship property, Golden Trend. The property is located on the Cortez Trend, next door to Barrick Gold and Newmont Mining's Gold Rush and Cortez Mine, which host significant gold resources [and reserves]. The Company plans to drill and advance its relatively unexplored property and continue to focus on acquiring and advancing gold projects in the area.
