

Pelham Investment Partners LP Issues Letter to Shareholders and Files Proxy Circular to Reconstitute the Board of Nickel 28 Capital Corp.

24.05.2023 | CNW

- It is Time for Change at Nickel 28 -

- Management has enriched themselves at shareholders' expense while turning a blind eye to their own serious and long-standing governance failures.
- Management's recent actions reveal the Board to be an entrenched group, which is, contrary to their own disclosures, comprised of a majority of non-independent directors and whose acts threaten to deprive shareholders of their right to elect who manages their company.
- Pelham is proposing a team of respected, highly-qualified and independent professionals to stand for election to the Board who have the right skills and experience to provide effective independent oversight of Management.
- Shareholders are urged to vote "FOR" each of Pelham's director nominees and "WITHHOLD" votes on any Nickel 28 director nominees using only the YELLOW proxy ahead of the proxy voting deadline of June 7, 2023 at 9:00 p.m. (Eastern Time).
- Pelham's letter to shareholders and information circular, as well as additional important information, is available at www.savenickel28.com.
- Questions or need voting assistance? Shareholders with questions or who need voting assistance may contact Laurel Hill Advisory Group at 1-877-452-7184 (416-304-0211 outside North America) or by email at assistance@laurelhill.com.

NEW YORK, May 24, 2023 - Pelham Investment Partners LP ("Pelham", "we", "our" and similar pronouns), a New York investment fund and the single largest shareholder of Nickel 28 Capital Corp. (formerly Conic Metals Corp.) (TSXV: NK 3JC0) ("Nickel 28" or the "Company"), advises fellow shareholders that it has issued a letter to shareholders and information circular as well as a form of proxy for use by shareholders in connection with Nickel 28's upcoming annual general and meeting, to be held on June 12, 2023 beginning at 10:00 a.m. (Toronto time) (the "Meeting").

As the largest shareholder of the Company, holding approximately 14.3% of Nickel 28's issued and outstanding shares, Pelham believes that the board of directors of the Company (the "Board" or "Management") must be urgently reconstituted in order to ensure that the interests of shareholders are appropriately represented and safeguarded. Accordingly, Pelham is proposing for election to the Board at the upcoming Meeting, five highly-qualified and truly independent individuals. Our nominees are: Edward (Ned) Daniel Burns, Marilyn Spink, David Whittle and Ross B Levin. Additional information about our nominees can be found in Pelham's letter to shareholders and information circular, which is available at www.savenickel28.com.

Pelham expects that, if elected, its nominees will put an end to Management's continual failures which have manifested in, among other things, a number of significant governance issues, a lack of independent oversight, and a long-standing history of excessive executive compensation. These problems have and continue to harm the interests of Nickel 28 and its shareholders.

Rather than try to distract shareholders with baseless innuendo and insinuation as the Board has done, we present the facts and leave it to the Company's shareholders to decide whether the current Board should continue to steward their investment in Nickel 28. Our concerns are briefly summarized below, and are described in greater detail in our letter to shareholders and information circular (which we strongly recommend shareholders read before making a voting decision for the upcoming Meeting):

Nickel 28 Suffers from Dramatic and Long-standing Governance Failures

Nickel 28's directors and officers are enmeshed in a number of significant and compromising interlocking relationships with various companies which benefit them and harm shareholders. To date, these relationships appear to have flown under the radar but no longer:

- As a result of one of these relationships (which, along with its problematic consequences, is described in much more detail in our letter to shareholders and information circular), director Phillip Williams is, contrary to the current Board's claim of being independent, yet, in addition to being put forward as the Company's "Lead Independent Director" he chairs Nickel 28's two-person Compensation Committee which has approved staggering compensation at substantial expense to the Company and its shareholders.
- Nickel 28 director Maurice Swan is also the Chairman of the Board and serves on the Compensation Committee of Nickel 28 Streaming Corporation (NEO: NETZ) (OTCQB: OFSTF) (FSE: M2Q) ("CSC"). Nickel 28 President and director John Cochrane is also a director and the Chief Executive Officer of CSC, where both are provided excessive levels of compensation despite CSC's stock price falling roughly 75% in the less than two years since its listing. We believe the properly advised Board should deem this a "material relationship", and that Mr. Swan should be considered a non-independent director of Nickel 28.

The current Board has also failed to meet basic standards of governance, including:

- With its December 8, 2021 stock based compensation grant, the Board violated the limits on its already generous compensation plan.
- The Board has seemingly back-dated its 2022 equity-based compensation grants from December 15th to December 8th to reduce the stated value of those grants in its disclosures to shareholders, which allowed them to claim that the grant value was less than it actually was, reducing reported compensation.
- For several years, and in violation of TSX-V listing requirements as well as the Company's own Board mandate, the Board has had, at most, only one legally independent director and three non-independent directors. The Company's disclosure in their recently issued management information circular for use in connection with the Meeting, is materially false in its representation of the independence of the Board and the validity of any "independent determination" of the so-called "independent directors" of the Company on a number of matters - including historic compensation - is called into serious question.

Egregious Levels of Compensation

Given the Company's poor governance track record it should come as no surprise that Management receives egregious compensation, paid for with the Company's funds and at the direct expense of shareholders:

- Despite not directly operating any assets, Nickel 28 executives receive compensation in the 94th percentile when compared to their peers,¹ most of whom actively operate their assets;
- The Company also has three redundant layers of management:
 - Conor Kearns, the Company's part-time CFO, was provided compensation valued at almost $700,000 last year (and well in excess of $1 million in 2021). The CFO of Nickel 28's predecessor, Cobalt 27
 - Craig Lennon (Head of Asia Pacific at the Company's Ramu joint venture and the relevant relationship manager for the Company's Ramu joint venture)
 - Despite Mr. Lennon managing the Company's Ramu joint venture, Mr. Lennon Cochrane - who works only part-time at the Company (and is not an issuer) was paid nearly $2.4 million last year (including his CEO compensation) for no discernible increase in the Company's revenue.
 - On top of having both someone to directly manage the Company's Ramu joint venture (Mr. Lennon) the Company also has an Executive Chairman (Mr. Cochrane) (times the peer median compensation), despite the fact that Mr. Cochrane apparently spends the bulk of his time at Luxor.

Capital Corp. (which owned all of Nickel 28's assets, and much more), was paid less than $150,000 in the last full year it was a public company.

- Nickel 28 directors are each paid approximately $270,000 a year to serve on a Board that, according to the Company's own management information circular, only had two full board meetings last year.

To put this egregious compensation in context, the median compensation for directors of The Toronto-Dominion Bank ("TD") - Canada's second largest publicly traded institution, with assets nearly 12,500 times greater than Nickel 28 - was $275,000 last year. Instead of two meetings, the board of directors of TD had sixteen full board meetings last year.

Unacceptable Valuation

Under the current Board's stewardship, which has been plagued by self-interested decision-making, the market has roundly undervalued Nickel 28's stock at a dramatic discount to net-asset-values derived from the Board and Management's own discounted estimate that the Company's shares have traded at an average of just 21% of this Management informed net-asset-value since the Company was listed.³ Given the problems detailed above, we believe that market concerns with the current Board and Management are the principal reason for this discount.

Efforts at Entrenchment

The current Board has made it clear they will not voluntarily undertake the changes to governance and compensation we believe necessary to ensure that your Company succeeds. When confronted with these problems, both privately and publicly, the Board's reaction has been to undertake a concerted campaign of entrenchment. Entrenchment efforts to date include:

- After having ignored, for six months, our privately written concerns that the Board was not in compliance with its charter mandate which requires at least three independent directors, the Board appointed Lance C. Frericks to the Board just 48 hours after it became apparent that our criticism would become public. Mr. Frericks appears to have no public board experience or skills relevant to the Company's business. Despite our questions, the Company has not explained why he was chosen.
- The Board instituted a "poison pill" despite the fact that Management collectively owned enough stock to trigger the "pill". To make sure they wouldn't have to "eat their own cooking" management included grandfather provisions to itself. Management, as a group, wouldn't trigger the "pill".
- The Board set the record date for the Meeting one-day prior to the expiry of Pelham's tender offer in a transparent attempt to hinder our ability to vote the shares we purchased in the tender offer. Normally, the Company holds its Meeting in the summer but, this year, Management moved it up to mid-June and provided no prior notice of the record date. We believe the structuring of the Meeting was intended to impede our director recruitment and nomination efforts and hinder our ability to vote shares with which we could hold Management accountable.
- The Board rejected, without any attempt at engagement, a settlement offer we made (our second formal private approach to engagement which followed numerous public requests for engagement) that would have provided for the current Board members to retain two seats and have substantial discretion over the composition of the remainder of the Board. We believe it is false for the Company to claim that a proxy contest was unavoidable inasmuch as we tried, on multiple occasions, to get the Board to address its glaring governance and compensation problems voluntarily.
- Concerned that hollow attacks wouldn't work, and in an affront to shareholder democracy, the Board is attempting to use a flimsy pretext to deny you the ability to even consider our alternative slate of highly-qualified and truly independent nominees. Pelham is addressing these legal shenanigans head-on and intends to vigorously defend the right of shareholders to have a say on who is elected to the Board.

- To date, the Company and members of the Board have, together, hired several advisors to assist them in their efforts to ensure accountability. These include at least four law firms, a financial advisor, a "strategic shareholder advisor" and at least one "strategic communications advisor". All of these firms, who are working with an entrenched Board at the Company, represent a waste of shareholder resources.

Pelham Has a Plan to Substantially Improve the Value of Your Investment

Contrary to the current Board's false assertion, Pelham has a credible, actionable, and straightforward plan to greatly increase the value of your investment. For more details on our plan and how we expect that our nominees will lead the Company into the future for all shareholders, please see our letter to shareholders and information circular.

To be clear, our truly independent director nominees will act with discipline as they methodically assess and steward the Company as the elected representatives of shareholders with both eyes clearly focused on protecting the interests of all shareholders.

If elected, Pelham expects that its nominees will undertake a forensic investigation into the activities of Management both before and during our involvement as an activist and will hold former directors to account for any breaches of duty and other acts of self-dealing or corporate malfeasance that they authorized or permitted to occur on their watch. We expect that this investigation would include challenging the validity and legality of any change of control payments that may have been authorized by Management in breach of their fiduciary duties to the Company.

Vote Only the YELLOW Proxy "FOR" a Better Future For Nickel 28

This vote is of critical importance to all of us as shareholders of the Company and it is up to shareholders to protect their investment in Nickel 28. Next year, management will, through vesting of stock it has already awarded itself (for no consideration), gain ownership over approximately an additional 5% of Nickel 28 and, if history is any guide, Management will continue to further increase its ownership interest at shareholder expense. Pelham fears that if shareholders do not reject the incumbent Board this year, the situation will become unsalvageable given Management's prospective ownership interest.

Pelham welcomes the unsolicited expressions of support it has received from so many shareholders to date but, in order to effect the needed change, this support must translate into votes. Every vote counts. Nickel 28 shareholders are urged to vote using the YELLOW proxy - Pelham's form of proxy.

Our YELLOW form of proxy has been prepared as a "universal" proxy, meaning that all of our nominees, as well as the nominees of Management, are included as voting options. We determined to provide shareholders with a universal proxy as the practice of utilizing a universal proxy in a contested meeting is becoming increasingly recognized as a governance best practice. Even before Management was in possession of the identities of our nominees and was made aware that the Meeting would be contested, the Board chose not to provide for our nominees on their form of proxy (for reasons that should be readily apparent to shareholders). Accordingly, shareholders are able to vote for our nominees or Management's nominees (or any combination thereof), on the YELLOW Proxy ONLY. Pelham urges shareholders to vote only the YELLOW Proxy, regardless of how they wish to vote, and disregard any proxies or voting instruction forms received from Management.

Time is of the essence. In order to ensure your vote is counted at the Meeting, please ensure it is received prior to the proxy deadline of 9:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on June 7, 2023.

Even if you have already voted using a blue management proxy or voting instruction form, you have every right to change your vote and support the nomination of our nominees. A later-dated YELLOW form of proxy or voting instruction form automatically replaces any and all previously submitted forms of proxy or voting instruction forms.
