Full Year 2023 Outlook

- Exploration of the expanded property package along the Otu fault to continue to build total resources and identify the next mine on our Antioquia properties.
- To continue the formalization process for the small miners operating on the Company's concessions, 10% of the ounces produced come from these small miners.
- Finalize plans to restart the el Limon Mill to process both excess ore from Cordero and ore from formalized small miners.
- Conduct a comprehensive review to assess potential additions to the Company's concession package, focusing on trends identified through the exploration program.
- Utilize the newly purchased underground drill to conduct deep drilling at the Cordero deposit, aiming to validate the extension of the deposit at depth and consequently increase the Cordero resource.

Javier Cordova, Soma's President and CEO, states, "Our team has consistently delivered strong performance throughout the quarter, aligning seamlessly with our 2023 plans and guidance. Anticipating a strong finish to the year, we are actively ramping up production to meet our aggressive growth objectives for the year. Initiating the restart of the el Limon Mill is a key component of our strategy to expand milling capacity. This move positions us for increased production capacity and sets the stage for robust growth in ounces produced, extending into 2024 and beyond."
